The diagram illustrates the assembly of the 1410 drain. It shows a top-down view of the grate (1) being secured with screws (2) into the flashing collar (3). Below the collar is the cast iron body (5), which is secured with bolts (4). The body is mounted onto the sump receiver (6), which is then secured to the underdeck clamp with trim (7). The trim (7) is shown in two configurations: with lugs and without lugs.

A technical cross-section diagram of a cover assembly. It shows a horizontal cover plate with a vertical flange on the right side. A screw is shown passing through the flange and into a vertical support structure. Callout '1' points to the screw head, and callout '2' points to the screw body. The diagram uses hatching to indicate different materials or cross-sections.
